

Most people in the world live in poverty, two-thirds live on less than $10 per day, and every tenth person lives on less than $1.90 per day.

Global poverty is one of the very worst problems that the world faces today. The poorest in the world are often hungry, have much less access to education, regularly have no light at night, and suffer from much poorer health.

Social forces, including a gender, disability, or race or ethnicity, can exacerbate problems of poverty—with women, children and minorities regularly bearing unequal burdens of poverty. Moreover, impoverished individuals are more susceptible to the effects of other social problems, such as the environmental effects of industry or the impacts of climate change or other natural disasters or severe weather events. Poverty can also make other social problems worse; economic pressures on impoverished communities frequently play a part in deforestation, biodiversity loss and ethnic conflict.

How to transition into Society Where Everyone Is Able To Think Freely And Creatively And Not Being Worried About Survival

we are in 21st century, with the help of Science and technology, and use of varieties of strategies which can make the world a better place .

- Increase access to, and the quality of, education
- raising the economic well-being of individual households and/or communities
- Increase access to health care
- Increase child protection (for example, preventing early marriage)
- Improve access to water, sanitation and hygiene

I think the above strategies will be eucatastrophic , it will allow endless creativity .

world where humanity has transitioned into a society where everyone is able to think freely and creatively and not be worried about survival is will turn to reality someday.
